“ Dennis was always there for his friends and family when they needed him. He always worked hard and was always ready for a new project. Up until his health problems he was very self sufficient and always kept busy doing something. He had a hard work ethic and was a great example to younger guys like me who still had a lot to learn. We'll miss him.

“ Dennis was always a very nice, quiet gentleman. He worked hard, loved animals and had a sense of humor that snuck up on you, which made it even better. He loved his family and was a wonderful provider. He waged an amazing battle against illness that earned our utmost admiration. We will miss you very much, but know you have earned your eternal reward.

“ There are many good things to say about my brother-in-law Dennis. He was a friendly hard working family man, a really solid guy. Every year he raised one of the best vegetable gardens I have ever seen. He was a great handyman with mechanical skills and enjoyed working on things. He was a good husband and father. He was the type of person that anyone would want for a friend and neighbor. He put up a brave and admirable battle with his illness, not giving up when most of us would have. He is not only a loss to his family, but a loss to the world. He left us too soon, but we are comforted by the knowledge that he is in God's hands. Gary Totten
